The wedding bells will jingle, jangle, jingle

LIVERMORE — When a cowgirl bronc and bull rider from Colorado marries a cowboy from New Mexico this Saturday, the whole valley is invited to attend.

It promises to be a beautiful ceremony — the bride and groom on horseback right in the middle of the Robertson Arena, tying the knot just minutes before the Grand Entry of Livermore's first professional All Girl Rodeo.

Rev. Tom Frederick, the Livermore Police chaplain, will officiate. Perched on horseback, too, it will be a novel experience for the preacher, who's never married a couple in quite this fashion before.

Paula Paulsen, the bride, asked that the ceremony be performed before the rodeo begins. A contestant in the bronc and bull riding events, she's afraid she'd get all messed up in the competition if she waited to be married later.

The newlyweds will celebrate at a party Saturday night at a local motel.

One cowgirl told The Times that cowboys and cowgirls often decide to get married in the arena. "Especially at the Las Vegas rodeo. They all seem to go crazy and end up getting married in the arena," she said.

The ceremony is set to take place around 1 p.m. The Grand Entry will follow at 1:30 p.m.

Approximately 100 women are expected to compete in the All Girl Rodeo on Saturday and Sunday.

The women's spectacle is similar in most respects to the men's rodeo. Like the men, cowgirls compete in bareback bronc and bull riding, calf roping and team roping.

The women also compete in barrel racing, one of the most popular rodeo events; goat tying; and steer undecorating.

Grand Entry will take place at 1:30 p.m. each day. Tickets are available at the arena at Robertson Park.

Old guard loses driveway battle, with exceptions

PLEASANTON — Pleasanton Body Shop won permission to put a driveway on Vervais Avenue Wednesday night from the planning commission in a little drama that had many old - timers in it.

On one side of the drama were four households on the tiny, narrow cul - de - sac next to the Arroyo Del Valle, all residents of long standing in the community. They lost last year in opposing the body shop and they lost again Wednesday, though they had one long - time resident, Planning Commissioner Bill Jamison on their side.

They had long - time local attorney Lee Amaral speaking for them and though he lost the battle of the driveway, he managed to get some conditions imposed which, if enforced, will cut down potential noise, odor, and traffic problems. Amaral will huddle with representatives of the body shop and the city to hammer out those conditions and then final approval is expected.

On the other side of the dispute was the body shop, which needs the driveway to accomodate deliveries and customers. It also would help the public because traffic backs up at the shop's only entrance on Stanley Boulevard and creates problems. In fact, two body shop customers backed up all the way across Stanley and into parked cars.

Leo Heckathorn of Stanley Boulevard said he has seen many close calls between cars because of the driveway jamups at the body shop. Though he has respect for his long time neighbors on Vervais, he thought that Stanley safety problem had to be solved.

Jamieson, in a little speech explaining his vote against the driveway, thought a double standard was in operation on the planning commission. When residents of ritzy Sharab Court in Vintage Hills complained about the Presbyterian church's desire to put an entrance to the cul - de - sac, the commissioners responded by blocking it. But mhere was no such blocking of the body shop's proposed vehicular opening to the Old Town cul - de- sac.

Broken promises also was Jamieson's theme. The pedestrian gate on Vervais was supposed to be for body shop employees to water the landscaping, but trucks stop on Vervais and delivery persons use the gate to make deliveries. People park in front of the "no parking" signs on the narrow street, something he witnessed in two visits Wednesday. This makes it very difficult on the residents to get into their own street, said Jamieson.

Attorney Bill Hirst, representing the body shop, said that without the proposed driveway it would be "virtually impossible" for the body shop (and a muffler shop in the same building) to do business. He promised the gate would be locked on weekends and after business hours so that no one else took advantage of the driveway.

Vervais Avenue has a 30 foot right of way, though it is not paved to full width, said Hirst. He implied that the narrow pavement is responsible for the traffic maneuvering problems of which the residents complained.

Resident George Garibaldi also talked about the street width and felt a widening of the pavement would clear up traffic problems, but nothing else was said about it.

Attorney Amaral said the problem was created by the city when it permitted a use that is too intensive "on a postage stamp sized lot". He showed the commissioners pictures of a truck parked in the middle of Vervais Avenue and cars on both parked on both sides. There was about a half of a car - width remaining.

Murray school housing quiz underway

Parents in the Murray School District are receiving survey forms asking them to express support for one of two alternatives regarding housing of seventh and eighth graders.

The survey has been printed and will be tabulated by Applied Technology Center for Education, an Anaheim-based research firm.

Parents are asked to check either, "Convert an existing K-6 or K-8 school to a 7-8 school," or "Maintain existing grade level organization: One 7-8 school, three K-8 schools, five K-6 schools."

Slightly more than 3,000 forms were sent out to parents in the district.

They are expected to be tabulated by early August, though the Citizens Advisory Committee of the district is not slated to meet again until September 1.

An identical survey was issued to 258 teachers with 158 responding to date. Two-thirds of those responding checked alternative No. 1 — convert an existing K-6 or K-8 school to solely 7-8 use.

An accompanying report reviewed by the CAC Wednesday listed comments of those teachers responding, by grade level and school.

Following are some of the comments from Donlon K-6 teachers: "As enrollment drops — the district should utilize existing schools rather than build new ones," "This (survey) is a disgraceful waste of money! Why isn't the district doing this themselves? Waste not, want not." "Get them out of Donlon."

From a Donlon 7-8 grade teacher: "It is unfair to the junior high students at Donlon to be subjected to inferior facilities — i.e., slum structures as are the existing junior high structures. How can the people hope to maintain quality teachers by allowing them to teach with inferior facilities? We need EQUAL educational opportunities for the children involved."

The following comments are from Frederiksen, Lydiksen, Murray and Nielsen K-6 teachers, in that order: "Cronin being so close to Wells seems to be the best and easiest solution as well as the least disruptive to students, teachers and parents." "Nielsen would be a good choice since they already have 7-8 there. The school with the least K-6 would be good (Fallon-Murray) and bus them (K-6) elsewhere. Cronin would be a good 7-8 because it is so close to Wells or Frederiksen (for the same reason). Just don't convert Lydiksen or Donlon. I love our school." "It seems to me that Dublin School is the logical choice for a 7-8 facility because of the possibility for extending their present program." And, two comments from Nielsen K-6 teachers: "If alternative one isn't available I'd like to see a self-contained seventh and departmentalized eighth." "I feel that K-6 programs are stronger without 7-8 pupils in close proximity. Also, I feel 7-8 pupils deserve more program possibilities."

Several teachers at Wells Intermediate also commented: "There is absolutely no comparison between program offerings — much more is available in a 7 and 8 organization! Also, another 7-8 school would give more uniformity in the district. Alternative two (status quo) just spreads program continuity and articulation even more thinly." "Should have been done this way a long time ago. Kids in K-8 schools just don't have the programs Wells Intermediate School has!

Several Dublin Elementary K-6 teachers opted for the present make-up of district schools: "K-8 schools facilitate cross-age tutoring which is beneficial to both tutor and tutee. Neighborhood schools facilitate parent - school contact, which aids many childrens' school - related problems." "I don't see a long-term need for a separate plant." "I truly believe that a true intermediate school would be more advantageous (5-8). Then I would vote for site changes." "If funding at 7-8 level could be more equalized, programs would be more equal at K-8 schools."

From Fallon School: "Unify district with Pleasanton. This will solve all problems." From Lydiksen: "I actually feel that a K-8 arrangement offers the most for students in sound development. This statement is based on my observations and experiences during 12 years of teaching in various grade level organizations." From Murray: "I think to convert existing schools would cause more problems and expenses. Depending on where the new location is, many parents will fight the busing of their children across town."

Lawrence Lab laborers vote strike on wages

LIVERMORE —Members of Laborers International Union Local 1276, representing more than 300 Lawrence Livermore Laboratory employes, last night unanimously voted to strike next week if management forces them to accept a $70 across - the - board pay raise.

The union said a strike would halt on-going construction projects at the lab, stop shipments of needed materials, and possibly delay the scheduled July 31 opening of the lab's visitors' center.

The union, representing materials handlers, warehousemen, stores personnel and machinists, said the strike would not take place until Wednesday at the earliest, allowing management time to respond to its demands.

Union members are upset that a bill signed by Governor Edmund Brown Jr. two weeks ago, which provides for a $70 - a - month across - the - board pay hike for all state employes, will be applied to them. If this happens, negotiations to grant a 9.4 per cent increase as demanded, would go out the window.

The issue at variance between the two sides is whether lab workers are considered state employes. LLL is operated by the University of California for the U.S. Energy Research and Development Agency.

A recent survey of prevailing wages in the area of similar jobs, conducted jointly be the union and lab personnel, shows that union employes should be granted a 9.4 per cent wage increase. If the $70 monthly increase takes effect, the union claims that they would receive lower pay compared to private industry, and that pay hike schedules would be slowed.

At last night's 90-minute meeting of 108 union members, union leader Butch Tolbert told workers that even if the higher wage is granted, they would not receive an amount comparable to the area prevailing wage "But we would be a hell of a lot closer," he said.

Tolbert said that management had promised him over the last four months that wages would be based on data gathered in the joint wage study, but that agreement was now threatened by imposition of the $70 hike.

"It may seem like a good increase now, but next time it will be smaller and smaller. If we accept this, we're state employes," he said.

Local unions had promised support and would honor picket lines if a strike were to occur, he said, which would stop deliveries of materials critical to the lab's operation.

After the strike vote was taken, Tolbert said the union would adopt a wait and see attitude. "There's no doubt in my mind that this is going to force this issue to a head — whether we fall under the service contract, or we are state or federal employes.

"If the employers don't come up to the prevailing wage rate, then at this time next week we will be on strike. It's a guarantee."

Two firemen get hearings on Tuesday

PLEASANTON — Two Fire Department lieutenants who felt they were passed over unjustly for raises this year will appear at a public meeting Tuesday morning to air their grievance.

Lieutenants Dennis Laurence and Jerry Hinkston, five year veterans of the department, will appear before the city's personnel board at 9 a.m. Tuesday in the city council chambers, 30 W. Angela St.

Management allegedly contended that the two men did not earn raises this year, as did other rank and file firemen who climbed another step. The men will be represented by San Francisco attorney Alan Davis, who represents the Pleasanton firefighters' union local.

Strike three for attorney Corley

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — Pleasanton attorney John Corley's bid to build a five-acre home site on Trenery Drive near the outskirts of town stalled again before the board of supervisors yesterday.

In his third trip before the board, Corley still failed to muster the third vote necessary to reclassify the 10 acres of agricultural land to two five-acre lots for homesites.

Supervisors John Murphy and Charles Santana have voted in favor of the change, while Joseph Bort, Tom Bates and board chairman Fred Cooper have abstained.

Calling himself the swing vote, Bort said he "could see no way to divide this without dividing a substantial part of the area. If it comes to a vote, I'll vote no."

But "we'll be setting a good pattern out there," replied Murphy. "Something we can be proud of."

"If that's true," argued Bort, "we can do the entire area . . . I think the planning commission make a mistake in walking away from (a proposed study area)."

The commission had set off to study the entire 350-acre area, including portions of gravel quarry land, but backed off, deciding instead to take each application as it came before the commission.

Attorney John Corley

The seven - member panel voted 6-1 in favor of the application, while their staff recommended against it.

Chairman Cooper's compromise offer of approval for all but those parcels which touch city property also failed to sway Bort.

Cooper suggested okaying Corley's request, but holding back on approval for two large parcels on the edge of Pleasanton's city limits.

"That would limit it to five new homes on Trenery Drive," he said, but added there's "no way" he would step from his abstention.

The three apparently fear the larger parcels that border the city's limits — 21- and 57-acre sites — could be subdivided into large estates.

Planning director Bill Fraley will file an "area report" with the board, one that looks at the entire Martin and Morhr avenues — Trenery Drive acreage.

The board will consider Corley's request again on Aug. 12.

Battery on police alleged after dog kills dog

LIVERMORE — A 41-year-old Livermore woman whose dog allegedly killed a neighbor's dog that had entered her yard was arrested on suspicion of battery on a police officer late Tuesday.

According to police, a small dog belonging to a family living on Camelia Drive wandered a few houses away into a neighboring yard. A larger dog kept in that yard allegedly attacked the smaller dog and killed it, police said.

Police responded to a complaint of the two sets of owners causing a disturbance on Camelia about 9:30 p.m. According to reports, Carol Jean Davis - Horgan, owner of the larger dog, became angered and allegedly said she was going over to her neighbor's house and beat up the other dog's owner.

Officer Robert Stansell reportedly ran after Davis - Horgan and took the woman's arm to stop her. She allegedly began kicking Stansell yelling "Let me go" until he and officer Larry Medders subdued her.

Police reported the woman had to be physically removed from the patrol car after arriving at the station. She was booked on suspicion of battery on a police officer.

Stanseli reported sustaining minor bruises and a lump on his shin but did not require treatment.

Burglars take $3,000 in jewelry from Pleasanton home

PLEASANTON — Burglars opened a rear sliding glass door to a Loganberry Way residence late Tuesday and took nearly $3,000 in jewelry.

Jay and Kathleen Daniels told police that they were riding horses between 8-11 p.m. Tuesday, and discovered the theft upon their return.

Missing items include a 3/4-carat wedding ring, silver gold with three small diamonds on a black base, valued at $2,000; a Seiko brand silver watch, gold locket, and several rings.

Police said the thieves apparently used matches for illumination, but could find no other clues in the theft. There are no suspects at this time.

Cranford Lane home burglarized of $320 in valuables

DUBLIN — Burglars entered a Cranford Lane residence by unknown means recently and took $320 in valuables, deputies reported.

Martha Ward reported that burglars ransacked only the master bedroom, leaving other parts of the house untouched. Missing items include a money belt with a silver dollar buckle valued at $250, a 1970 British proof set, coin paperweight, and an assortment of old coins.

There were no clues in the theft.

Vandals wreck and burglarize abandoned vehicle

LIVERMORE — A Fremont man whose car was stuck on Mines Road after he swerved to avoid a cow returned later to find his car pushed down an embankment, burglarized and its windows shot out from shotgun blasts.

Jon William De Marco told deputies he was driving his VW bug on Mines Road when a meandering cow forced him to swerve off the roadway. The car sustained minor damage and couldn't be moved, so De Marco locked the car and departed.

Missing items include a Craftsman toolbox with $200 in tools, two sleeping bags, jack and stand, Montgomery Ward brand tape deck, six speakers and seven tapes, with a total value of $605.

Complete parkway way in future

PLEASANTON — There are a few blocks of the Del Valle Parkway, already in existence, but it will be a long time before more links of the cross - town street will be added, planning commissioners told the residents of the existing blocks Wednesday night.

But that didn't fully reassure the residents, who would like an Environmental Impact Report done on just what implications the full parkway will have on their homes. Many of the residents fear their property values will plummet as the Del Valle Parkway becomes the Del Valle Speedway, according to testimony from John Fitzgerald, who lives on the parkway which now runs east of Hopyard Road to a dead - end.

Some day the parkway will run over to Main Street and Stanley Boulevard, when more traffic could be expected on it. Ultimately it will run to the south side of town along the Arroyo Del Valle.

Residents fear that the street will be in the expressway category with attendant noise and traffic worries, but Woody Pereira, a former planning commissioner who works for Morrison Homes, assured Fitzgerald that the city's intention is a parkway, not an expressway.

"The city intends a scenic drive there and speeds around 25 to 35 miles per hour are appropriate, not 45 miles per hour that you would expect on a major collector street," said Pereira.

The residents seemed disappointed that the future traffic impact of the parkway was not discussed in an Environmental Impact Report done by a private firm for the 24 homes which Morrison Homes wants to build on the parkway between the parkway and the Arroyo Del Valle. Planning Director Robert Harris explained that the EIR is supposed to deal only with the impact of the 24 homes, not with the whole parkway.

Commissioners agreed that the parkway is a serious matter, though, and pledged to keep open lines of communication about it.

Parkway resident Mary Singleton reminded the commission that there has been a proposal for a trailway down the arroyo and it should be given some attention.

The commission approved the Morrison Homes request for the 24 homes on property intended earlier for multiples.

Demos peg Carter, Mondale

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP) — Carter - Mondale buttons blossomed on Democratic lapels Thursday as Jimmy Carter summoned Sen. Walter F. Mondale, the favorite of liberals and labor, to become his vice-presidential running mate.

"... I have no doubt that I have made the right decision," said the Democratic presidential nominee. Carter said he had changed his mind three times before settling on the 48 - year - old senator from Minnesota.

"... I've been completely satisfied that he would be highly qualified to lead our country," the former Georgia governor said, answering the only question there ever was about the 1976 Democratic National Convention.

It only remained for the delegates to ratify the vice-presidential nomination and send forth their ticket from one last convention rally into the showdown campaign against a Republican yet to be chosen.

The button-makers wasted no time, and two hours after Carter announced his choice, a Democrat could take his pick of pins: "Carter and Mondale" or "Jimmy and Fritz in '76."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey was chosen to present the name of Mondale, his Senate partner and political protege, for the vice-presidential nomination.

The convention vote was a formality, settled at breakfast time when Carter told his wife, Rosalynn, that it would be Mondale, then telephoned him and the other five senators he had listed as final vice-presidential prospects.

Jimmy Carter said he changed his mind three times, but he had no doubt that his fourth decision, the one he announced Thursday, was the right one. Sen. Walter Mondale would be the best running mate.

The Democratic presidential nominee made it clear that if the national convention had been held a month ago, the Minnesota senator would not be the vice presidential choice.

The relaxed Democratic standard-bearer ended the only suspense hanging over the convention as he told a jammed news conference about his month-long vice presidential search.

"I have to tell you Sen. Mondale is the fourth one," Carter said of his different choices.

Later, at a briefing for reporters, Carter said he "began to feel fairly sure" of Mondale by the time the convention began. But he really didn't make up his mind until Wednesday, he said.

"The only concern I had was political and that was about his acceptance in the South."

But he said a newspaper poll of Georgia delegates showed them favoring Mondale.

Valley obituary

Minnie Hamilton

Minnie M. Hamilton, 69, died Wednesday in Pleasanton.

Survivors include her children, Beverly Morris of Pleasanton; Donald Hamilton, Oakland, and stepson Bill Hamilton of Hayward.

She also leaves her sister, Kay Dutra, also of Hayward, and grandchildren Jay, Dale, Jan, Karen and David Morris, and Gary and Danny Hamilton, all of Pleasanton.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a.m., Saturday, at the Graham Hitch Mortuary, 675 St. John St., Pleasanton, followed by burial in St. Augustine's cemetery. A rosary will be recited at 7:30 this evening.

Warning test sirens will sound at noon

Sirens will sound loudly at noon today as the Office of Emergency Services conducts its quarterly warning system test throughout the county, excluding Newark and Berkeley.

Beginning at noon, sirens will sound steadily for one minute, followed by a minute of silence. A rising and falling wail or series of short blasts will then sound for one minute.

The public is requested to take no action during or after the sirens, since it is only a test. All persons interested in information about handling disaster situations should contact the Office of Emergency Services at 276-0600.

County strike negotiations to run through weekend

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — Negotiations between county officials and striking service employes are set to continue through the weekend.

Board of supervisors chairman Fred Cooper this week scheduled three board meetings per day through Monday in hopes a settlement is reached in the six-week-old walkout.

He said board meetings "will not necessarily be held. It depends on developments with the current strike negotiations."

If an agreement is reached, the board can return to any one of the scheduled meetings and formally accept the settlement.

County and union officials have been meeting in marathon sessions since last Saturday.

The two reportedly have agreed on several points, but still are apart on wage and fringe benefits.

The union's latest public offer calls for a 6 per cent pay hike with another 1 per cent in fringe benefits.

The county last publicly offered a 4.2 per cent pay and fringe benefits increase.

Both sides have agreed to curtail all press and public announcements and to have State mediator John McCarthy make all official statements.

Firstbank Continues Growth Pattern

The first half of 1976 continued the pattern of steady growth in deposits, loans and total resources of The First National Bank of Pleasanton, according to Warren Harding, president of the locally owned bank.

Statement figures appearing in the adjacent column show total resources of $20,371,415 compared to $18,163,139 representing a 12 percent gain, since the first of this year. Deposits increased to $19,147,062 from $17,003,473 as of December 31, 1975 while loans totaled $10,253,938 compared to $9,362,005, an increase of nearly 10 percent since the beginning of this calendar year.

In addition, capital funds are now $1,093,267, an increase of $51,269 from retained earnings since the beginning of the year. Firstbank has made these gains while charging lower interest rates on loans than do competing banks and at the same time paying interest on deposits at the highest rate permitted.

First National Bank, which was established nearly sixty-six years ago, is the only locally owned bank in the Livermore-Amador Valley and as such is not owned by any bank holding company or foreign banking interests. The bank is a member of the Federal Reserve System and its deposits are insured up to $40,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Consciousness-raising

The Consciousness - Raising Task Force for the Tri-Valley Chapter of N.O.W. announces a new series to follow the initial consciousness - raising workshop sponsored by N.O.W.

C-R II will explore new topics while continuing the individual growth process experienced by members of the first group. Proposed topics include "Oppression of the Child-Woman," "Sisterhood and Fear of Feminism," "Women and Drugs."

Women who have participated in the first consciousness-raising group are eligible for the new series which will meet Thursdays in August (5, 12, 19 and 26). Location oF meetings is the Pleasanton Library, and time from 7:30 to 9:30 p m.

Women experienced in leading such groups will facilitate the series such as Alyce Loveless, Dorris Fagan, Ann Smith, Judy Matheson and Carol Toolan. The series is designed to meet the needs of women who want to continue their personal growth within the women's movement. It is hoped it will lead to an exploration of what is happening in the women's movement today.

New money to upgrade I-560

Completion of Interstate 580 to freeway standards as it approaches MacArthur Freeway is one the projects sought in a $5.6 billion highway program submitted this week to the California Highway Commission.

The commission is receiving the program following advice that the necessary funds could be available over the next six years "due to revised financial estimates." The state's highway program had ground to a halt when California seemed to be running out of money.

Elimination of the dangerous interchange near Castro Valley is one of 15 major projects State Transportation Director Andriana Gianturco believes she can accomplish "with existing staff and without an increase in the gas tax."

Maintenance and improvwment for existing state roads was given highest priority in the revised program.

Other Bay Ara Area projects listed in the six - year plan include closing the gap on Route 4 west of 1-680 in Concord; complete the routes melding 1-680 with two other freeways in a major project south of San Jose; work on the Grove Shafter freeway gap in Oakland; and completing other freeway accesses in San Francisco and on Route 101 in the north state.

Two LARPD seats open for November voting

LIVERMORE — Two seats on the five-member Livermore Area Recreation and Park District (LARPD) Board of Directors will be up for election on November 2.

The directors approved a resolution Wednesday night calling for the election and requesting that it be consolidated with the statewide general election in November.

The seats of Chairman Marlin Pound and Vice Chairman John Stroud expire this year. Neither director has announced whether he will seek another term.

Nomination petitions will be available at the LARPD office and at the County Registrar of Voters' office between Aug. 5 and Aug. 30.

All nomination petitions must be filed in the office of the registrar no later than 5 p.m. on Aug. 30.

At the time the nomination papers are filed a candidate may submit a statement of qualifications not to exceed 200 words in length. The directors determined Wednesday night that each candidate must pay for the publication of his or her statement.

It is estimated that the cost to the candidate will be approximately $85.

The district must pay to have the statement translated and printed in Spanish as required by state law.

Newly elected directors will take office at noon on Nov. 27.

Livermore careers course

Job seekers' tips offered

LIVERMORE — How are you supposed to sit during a job interview?

"Sit up straight and incline slightly forward, toward the interviewer.

"Have your arms down at your sides, not folded across your chest. Your feet may be crossed or flat on the floor. And, look intently at your interviewer.

"Your body should be in tune with your answers."

That's the kind of advice teacher Nick DiTota is pumping into 23 students two hours a day in an innovative careers course at Livermore High.

Lots of advice, coupled with exposure to various fields of endeavor, is the focus of the new class.

Students yesterday visited the Livermore Police Station — not for punishment, but to find out what it takes to become a police officer or a parole officer. At least six students were specifically interested in careers in correction departments.

On other occasions, they've had a chance to talk with managers and workers at fast - food chains such as Kentucky Fried Chicken, Sambo's and Jack in the Box, and at banks such as B of A and Wells Fargo.

"The experience reinforces class learning," says DiTota, who plans visits to other types of business before the end of the course.

Students also get experience in filling out job applications, writing resumes and taking tests.

They fill out individual interest tests to find out what activities they enjoy that they may not have considered as career possibilities before, and they learn to use reference books such as "DOT" (Dictionary of Occupational Titles) to zero in on job descriptions they may never have heard of before.

Another facet of the six - week course is information on colleges and vocational training schools which can make a specialist out of an unskilled laborer.

How - to books and informational pamphlets complete the array of information available to the high - school career seekers.

DiTota teaches a careers class at Del Valle Continuation School. But he had not considered offering the same thing in summer school until he went to a convention recently where it was suggested career courses should be available for all students, not just a few who seem to need it most.

"It's going over very well," he reports.

"We talk about everything from the condition of your fingernails to college curriculum. The kids are working hard, and I think they're getting a lot out of it."

— by Pat Kennedy

CSEA state confab attracts valley duo

Erick Jensen, president of the Amador-Pleasanton chapter of the California School Employees Association, and George McKee will be amongst valley delegates to the CSEA state convention in Sacramento Aug. 2-6.

With schools operating under Senate Bill 160 for the first time, Jensen believes issues and legislation coming before the convention will be of greater import than in past years.

Of particular concern is a piece of CSEA-initiated legislation dealing with criteria for confidential employees — those employees of a district who are approved to sit in on confidential school matters.

The current president of the statewide body, Bill Ellis of Indio, will be seeking his third term, according to Jensen. He is held with such regard, Jensen says, that he was voted a position on the Public Employees Retirement System (PERS) board.

Trampoline experts offering new series

LIVERMORE — Trampoline specialists Kim Rogers and Janie Hillyer will lead a new series of trampoline lessons beginning Monday, July 19, offered by the Livermore Area Recreation and Park District (LARPD).

Students will learn all phases of trampoline techniques. Lessons, held at the Recreation Center on 8th and H Streets, will be divided into skill levels.

Sessions are scheduled for children aged 5 to 6 years, 6 to 7 years, 8 to 9 years, 10 to 12 years, and 12 years and up.

Half-hour classes for the July 19-30 session will cost $5. Hour lessons will cost $10.

Registration is now being taken at LARPD offices, 71 Trevarno Rd. Call the LARPD office, 447-7300, for further information.

Livermore seniors to host card party

A card party will be hosted today at 1:30 p.m. at the Livermore Recreation Center by the arts and crafts section of the Livermore Senior Citizens Club. Donation is 50 cents per person.

Members are reminded that seats are still available for the July 20-24 Oregon bus tour at $135 per person. Boarding time is 8 a.m. at the Livermore Recreation center July 20.

The club will travel to the San Francisco Ice Follies Aug. 18. Fee of $8.80 per person includes transportation. A block of tickets to the musical, "George M," has been set aside for club members for the Aug. 19 performance at $1 per person.

Reservations for all events are taken by Vera Paulsen at 447-2395 or Ruth Stewart at 455-1505. Fee for the October Hawaiian trip is now due

'Rolling brownout' levels

Dry weather drains power

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Raising the possibility of a summer power emergency, Pacific Gas & Electric reported Thursday that hot, dry weather already had increased power demands to a point where emergency reserves were reduced "on several occasions" to near "rolling brownout" levels.

"Rolling brownouts" were defined as limited service interruptions.

"We hope that a power emergency will not develop," said Joseph Y. DeYoung, vice president of customer operations. "But we and our customers must be prepared if an emergency should arise.

"Therefore we are suggesting that every home, business, building, farm and institution redouble its efforts to conserve energy and also develop plans for avoiding heavy power use during afternoon hours of the hottest days."

The company said the combination of hot weather and the abnormally dry year have increased both air conditioning and irrigation pumping loads, which, when combined with increased population and higher economic activity, caused record electricity use.

At the same time, De Young said, PG&E's ability to generate power to meet these peaks has been hampered by several factors, including low rainfall which has "greatly restricted" output from PG&E's hydroelectric plants. He said power also has been adversely affected by regulatory and construction delays which prevented the activation of the first of two nuclear units at Diablo Canyon.

"Had that unit been in full operation this summer, as originally planned, its million-plus kilowatt capacity would have effectively averted any energy squeeze," said a statement from the utility.

During the heat wave at the end of June, the company said, all available generating resouces were being used, yet demands were cutting sharply into reserve capacity.

"Had higher loads been experienced, or had there been a major equipment failure, rolling brownouts might have become necessary," DeYoung said.

He urged that customers avoid using electrical appliances, especially air conditioners, during peak summer demand periods, from about noon until 6 p.m. The peak season runs through August.

Paper drive set Saturday

Senior Girl Scout Troop 704 will hold a paper drive Saturday, July 17 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The bin will be located at the corner of Foothill Road and West Los Positas. Residents of the Highland Oaks are requested to leave their newspapers on the curb for pickup. Magazines are not acceptable.

If you are not able to drop the papers by the bin, call 846-2469 in the evening to arrange for pickup.

Steady Wolfe eyes Publinks title

COON RAPIDS, Minn. — Local golfing pride continued to get a shot in the arm at this unlikely locale yesterday as Livermore's Vic Wolfe beat two foes to advance to the quarter - finals of the United States Public Links championships at the Municipal Course.

Wolfe beat both Tom Proben of Detroit and James Fellner of Pewaukee, Wisconsin, one-up, to make the round of eight. On his way to eliminating Proben, Vic shot a 72 and came back with a 74 against Fellner.

The fact that he shot rounds of 70-74-74-72-74, including qualifying, has boosted Wolfe's confidence going into tomorrow's morning match with Ventura's Gary Hitch.

"I feel I've been playing consistently enough to win it," he said yesterday, adding, "Another golfer told me that if I don't make many mistakes, I should be able to beat Hitch."

Wolfe, the highest - ranking medalist still alive in the tourney, cruised to victory over Proben.

"I didn't concentrate that well," he admitted. "But I was up all the way, so there wasn't any pressure on me, though I did slip a few times."

The afternoon round was a different story, as Wolfe lost the third and fourth holes to go down, but rallied to pull even on the twelfth and fourteenth. A birdie on the seventeenth and a par on the final hole gave him the win over Fellner.

As consistent as Wolfe has been, the weather in usually chilly Minnesota has been the opposite. Plagued with 100-degree temperatures earlier in the week and plus-30 mile per hour winds throughout, Wolfe arose to the sound of rain yesterday morning.

"I decided to wear a turtleneck and roasted," he lamented. "I was awfully beat."

Meanwhile, defending champion Randy Barenaba lost to fellow Hawaiian Art Fujita in the second round in a match-up of youth and experience.

Fujita, 42, was one over par in defeating the 19-year old Barenaba, three-and-two.

Reid Schronce, who had tied Wolfe for third in medal play, was also eliminated in yesterday's morning round. Veteran Archie Dadian, a 43-year old from South Milwaukee, topped the southerner, one-up.

In addition to Hitch, who advanced with a three and one win over Gene Parr of nearby Richfield, one other Californian moved up. Randy Pallis of Torrance beat Armen Dirtadian of Tucson, Ariz., two and one.

Dublin stays alive, 4-0

FREMONT — Danny Pearson rapped two doubles and a single while Willie Langenhuizen hurled shutout ball as the Dublin all-stars stayed alive in District 57 Senior International All-Star play with a 4-0 victory over Fremont American at Olivos Field last night.

Pearson knocked in a run and scored once, as Dublin raced out to a 2-0 lead and never looked back.

Langenhuizen, using an effective slow curve that had Fremont batters on their tiptoes all night, yielded six hits enroute to the impressive win.

The winners scored twice in the first on Pearson's leadoff single, stolen base, and Ralph Johnson's base hit that plated Pearson. Singles by Rick Rosenbach and Bob Bottarini netted the second run.

In the sixth, Doug Daugherty's solo home run made it 3-0. The clout cleared the centerfield fence with plenty of room to spare.

Dublin added their final run in the seventh inning on George Garrett's leadoff double, followed one out later by Pearson's second two-bagger.

Dublin now advances in the losers' bracket of the double-elimination tournament, facing undefeated Mission San Jose tomorrow at 1:00 at Memorial High in Newark. Dublin must sweep two games to make the District finals next Monday.

Dean Mendez took the loss, yielding 12 hits to the winners. Ron Smith tripled and singled in vain, besides scoring a run.

Dublin Valley, meanwhile, still has a shot at the title. They face Newark National tonight on Hopyard Road's Sports Complex at 5:45. The winner will face unbeaten Centerville tomorrow.

MV's champs top EBA field

DIABLO — Five members of Monte Vista High School's North Coast Section championship team will tee off in the East Bay Area sectional tournament for the Northern California Golf Association Junior Championship today at Diablo Country Club here.

Tom Straeter, whose 78 took fourth in the East Bay Athletic League Tournament and who fired a 74-77-151 for seventh in the North Coast Section event is one of the standouts in the 41-player field.

Dave Olson, who surprised many observers with a 79 for sixth in the EBAL tourney , and Carl Richardson, who shot a respectable 79-78-157 at North Coast will also compete. Dave Najarian, who contributed to MV's fourth - place finish at the Northern California High School tourney in Marysville, and Ray Bluth are the other Mustangs entered.

Three - hundred and twenty golfers will attempt to qualify at 12 sites for the 128 positions available in the Championship tourney, July 26-30 at Lake Merced Golf and Country Club in Daly City.

The title is up for grabs as Turlock's Joe Rassett, the defending champ, turned 18 and is ineligible for further junior play.

Reds, Orioles lose

NEWARK — Certain victory turned to defeat in the fifth inning for the Pleasanton American Value Giant Reds as they fell to the San Ramon Pirates 8-5 in District 57 Major Division play last night at Newark High School here.

Leading 5-2 going into the fifth the Reds committed two errors to open the inning and San Ramon took advantage of them, going on to score six runs.

Red pitcher Jeff Corriea gave up a hit to Ron Poff that scored the winners' third run. After fanning Andy Anderson Corriea ran into some hard luck.

Kevin Trent singled over shortstop to drive in the second run. A walk to Wink Schneider and singles by Steve Church, Scott Bishop and Ron Devil drove in the final four runs.

Pleasanton had started out fast, scoring two runs in the first inning. After Mike Nieto grounded out Scott Strommer singled but was forced by Barry Baker. However, a throwing error on a grounder by Greg Devine scored Baker with the first run. Matt McCleary drove in the second run with a booming double to center field.

Pleasanton added single runs in the second, third and fourth innings. Two of those runs came on home runs by Corriea and Mike Schraeder.

The Reds hit the ball well all night, belting several hard flies to the outfielders that could have easily gone for hits. The losers had eight hits and San Ramon belted seven.

In another major division game the Newark American Indians belted the Dublin Valley Giovanetti Plumbing Orioles 18-5.

Mike White belted a home run in the second inning with one on. Randy Bannister added a double. Newark American smashed 15 hits and the losers collected seven. Both teams had three errors.

The loses by the Reds and Orioles eliminated both teams from the playoffs. There are no more valley teams left in the playoffs.

Sports in brief

Sisneroz paces BR stars

Sam Sisneroz hurled a three - hitter and Rick Stevenson drove in the only run of the game as Pleeasanton's Babe Ruth All-Stars gained the finals of the District 5 14-15 year old tournament with a 1-0 win over Hayward American.

Stevenson's 330-foot two-bagger in the seventh inning chased Scott Henderson home with the winning run.

Jeff Bailey also clouted a double for the winners.

Sisneroz, who fanned seven, allowed just one hit after the first inning and, at one point, retired 13 batters in a row.

Erik Skivers took the loss for Hayward

Sam Sisneroz belted a two-run homer in the sixth inning to give Pleasanton a 5-3 victory over Diablo Valley in District 5 Babe Ruth Star action Tuesday.

The winners were behind 1-0 after one inning but tied it up in the third on two singles and a walk.

Pleasanton went ahead 3-1 in the fourth. Jeff Bailey and Dean Shotwell each belted singles to contribute to the rally.

Guy Houston was the winning pitcher, striking out seven batters and allowing six hits

Pete Lampson was the losing pitcher. He also had seven strikeouts and gave up six hits.

DLL Picnic

The Dublin Little League will have its annual picnic Sunday at Dublin High School from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Awards will be given at 1 p.m and swimming will be allowed in the nearby Valley Swim Center from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. Soft drinks will sell for 10 cents.

Deaton in OC

Greg Deaton of Livermore and Granada Bowl will compete in the All-American Youth Bowling Championships at Windsor Bowl in Oklahoma City today and tomorrow.

The Oklahoma City competition is the Southwest Regionals. The top four bowlers from each division will advance to the national tournament in San Francisco August 10.

Deaton, who has a 159 average, will be bowling in the boy's handicap division. The national tournament is in its 16th year.

Cubs home

In their first home game since April the Tri-Valley Cubs tangle with the San Francisco Hawks, a team of Japanese - American players, in a non-league baseball doubleheader at 10 a.m. tomorrow on Dublin High School's field.

The Cubs have played most of their California Baseball Association games in San Francisco. The Hawks have several college players from the Bay Area on their squad.

Tri-Valley resumes California Baseball Association play Sunday against Big G Groceries at Sundberg Field in San Francisco.

Reynoldson top seed for PRC

The Pleasanton Racquet Club's annual singles tournament gets underway this weekend with the first round of men's competition at the Amador Valley High School tennis courts.

Seeded men are: Ron Reynoldson, Doug Balaban, Steve Torrano, David DiBiase, Dod Smith, Steve Williford, Jerry Stunkle and Paul Zarcone.

Women's play begins a week from tomorrow.

The land, the people, the quest

We should be indebted to the Alameda County Planning Department for raising questions relative to this Valley's future. But we must be careful to note that this latest county move fails to ask all of the questions, let alone promising to provide the answers.

The Amador - Livermore Valley "has become the focus of attention and controversy in the past decade." That is certainly an accurate summation of our recent history. Now all we need to decide is "Why the big controversy?" and "What can we do about it?"

The county planning director's study gives us a few clues. Growth in the communities of Livermore, Pleasanton and Dublin skyrocketed in the 1960s ... from 30,000 total in the early 1950s to 78,000 by 1970. We are all familiar with the trauma of that change.

What many overlook however is that a sudden reduction in numbers did not solve all our problems, or even meet all our desires. Streets that go no where, freeways that frustrate us, schools in the wrong location, utilities that are inadequate ... these are also the legacy of a growth pattern that suddenly stopped.

No one wants to return to that hectic pace of the '60s. But all of us would like to know where we stand with that lesser goal, what services might now be assured those already here, and how we might pay for it all.

The key element missing in the county report, and in the charge assigned initially to the Alameda County Planning Commission, is "Life style." All of the mathematics of land use, population curves and ethnic balance aren't going to mean much if we fail to also breathe in a little humanity to the Valley which just 100,000 of us now claim.

In the generations before our suburban emergence, there was always a "good balance" to the land, the people, their productivity. In the last ten or 15 years we have had a great struggle in trying to recapture that balance. It seems to us the Valley's mood has never been as happy as one might expect, given all the promise and the opportunities of this place.

Sometime, as we approach new findings in this latest in - depth look at our basin, some one should ask: "But will it make people content?" That is one value which seems to have eluded many of us, in the last decade or so.

New education

A bold move in Pennsylvania's high schools may have an impact on secondary education in our own community. And that could be good news, or bad, depending on your view, and your children.

PennsylvaNia is stressing "survival skills" in its high schools. An updating of the old "technical school" approach, the Pennsylvania plan would permeate the standard academic institution. Instead of letter grades, students would have to "prove their skill" in a long list of job - oriented subjects. And some subjects that are basic to the search for a job.

"Students need to know that if you can't read a newspaper, you aren't going to make it in this society," Pennsylvania's education secretary is quoted as saying.

All of which is encouraging to those thousands of high schoolers who have found themselves being "pushed through the grades" and shoved on into a society they little understood, or accepted. But that is not the total story.

"There is growing skepticism over the value of the traditional education system," says another spokesman for Pennsylvania's schools. What does that mean? Are we reaching too high, or too low? And just who is it that is "skeptical" over those classroom values?

There is a new mood in the nation to "share our opportunities with the least of our people." Governor Brown is fond of speaking like that; Jimmy Carter voices thoughts along that line. The mood is not new; just in for a revival.

The problem is that, each time we reach down, we seem to lower the entire system. The memory of that "sight reading" debacle is still fresh in the minds of those who suffered through that grand classroom experiment. Any day now you can expect a new wire service series entitled "Johnny STILL Can't Read ... "

It is good for this nation to react to such widespread need. It is something else when we over-react, leaving an entire generation of students floundering in the wake of our last great academic surge. Remember Sputnik and New Math?

Keep your eye on the Pennsylvania Plan. Public school education may be in for another "dramatic change."

Buenas Vidas

If you caught that story in Tuesday's Times then you know about the Youth Ranch that a few Livermore people are supporting, so that a lot of young people might have a place to call "home."

This is the kind of service that too often winds up as just another county institution, adding another bite to the tax rolls. But Buenas Vidas Youth Ranch is unique in that local people, local artisans, local service groups, are working hard on that "impossible dream."

The kind of charity that extends direct from one person to another, that bypasses bureaucracy in favor of personal involvement, has always been the best kind. The most efficient. The most effective.

Buenas Vidas Youth Ranch seems to have that kind of potential.

If it succeeds it will be because local people cared. Judging by the calls this newspaper has received just since running that Tuesday piece on Buenas Vidas, a great many people care. If enough of you want to help, one community may be able to sustain one program, for the benefit of just a few young people.

But isn't that what it's all about?

Here we go again. . .

FOCUS/The Olympic Games

Politics & pouting

Somewhere, probably back in the dark ages, athletes of various countries would pack their bags once every four years and travel to the Olympic Games for fun and sport.

With a revered senior athlete carrying the country's flag at the head of the delegation, the athletes trooped about the main stadium at the outset of the Games, went to their respective competitions, exchanged souvenirs, occasionally got a little tipsy and disorderly, and also broke the monotony by skipping after the fraulieins in the village.

International Olympic Committee czar Avery Brundage was held in the same regard, generally, as baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn is today.

But times have changed. Oh, have they changed!

Brundage is dead and so, for that matter, is the original concept of the Olympic Games.

The International Olympic Committee and various socialistic potentates have been burying the Games in degrees for the last 20 years.

Latest country to aid and abet the bumbling sultans of transglobal sports is the Dominion of Canada.

The Canadian government recognizes the People's Republic of China (Red China) but not the Republic of China (Taiwan). Canada also sells wheat to the former and tries to keep visas from falling into the hands of the latter.

It's politics pure and simple.

A very recent poll of the Canadian "man on the street" disclosed a strong feeling that Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau was somewhat akin to Charley Finley's description of Bowie Kuhn as "the village idiot."

Idiotic or not, the Canadian government's decision leaves 16 million Chinese unrepresented and another 700 million with that pampered feeling — wheat and all. The Reds get the wheat and the island republic the chaff!

Only way the ROC/Taiwan contingent is going to get into the Games starting tomorrow in Montreal is to agree to drop the Republic of China designation, not carry their flag or have their national anthem played. They'll also have to get visas....and tickets.

Another country not likely to see the inside of Montreal's multi-billion white elephant sports complex is the Republic of Filbert Bayi — better known to most as Tanzania.

This African nation, 12 years young and with barely half the population of California, is pouting because New Zealand has the audacity to show up at Montreal after sending their soccer team to South Africa last year — a country that is on nearly everybody's "list" for their alleged apartheid practices.

Would this be considered a secondary boycott?

Rugged individualists that they are, the Kiwis will be on the starting line tomorrow, John Walker, Rod Dixon and Dick Quax, et. al.

Leaving the Tanzanians to measure their newly - hatched principles against whether countryman Bayi can outfoot Walker in the "dream 1,500-meter race of the century."

One of these years the World is going to wake up and the Olympic Games will be dead and buried and nobody will miss them — because "leaders" will be too busy figuring out how to put the screws to someone low in the social pecking order.

Letters to the Times

That overcrossing

Editor, The Times:

I also, agree with Ginni Lunger's letter that the residents of Pleasanton should set aside their emotions and personal desires concerning the Las Positas overcrossing. Facts, not emotionalism, is needed. Buying a house that ended up with a shopping center behind it, is an example of how important it is to get all the facts straight before taking action.

A vehicle overcrossing and interchange are proposed for Las Positas, not just a vehicle overpass. Many people, both East and West of 680, do not want the vehicle overcrossing, but want a pedestrian overpass instead. Pedestrian safety would be resolved with a pedestrian overpass. This, then could be used by the reported teenagers who needlessly run across the freeway, in lieu of using provided bus service. Anyone really concerned about pedestrian safety must also care for children, especially those in the Oak Hill area, who must walk to Lydiksen School; a vehicle overcrossing would be a definite peril. Many Donlon School parents signed a petition for the pedestrian overpass versus the vehicle overcrossing. Emergency vehicle response will be solved by the Stoneridge Overpass which is less than a mile from Las Positas and also provide reduced and safer busing for the Foothill students.

If Mrs. Lunger is concerned about Pleasanton tax revenue she should be working towards the Stoneridge overcrossing which is necessary for the Stoneridge Shopping Center which will provide the needed tax revenues through the Center's property tax and sales taxes. The only way the vehicle overcrossing could be built at Las Positas is by a bond issue, which if passed would raise everyones' property taxes in Pleasanton. A pedestrian overpass can be built at Las Positas within 2 years with money now available in Pleasanton with matching funds from the State.

I don't know of anyone in Pleasanton who wants their taxes higher than they are now, but, building a vehicle overpass at Las Positas would not serve the needs nor the safety for the whole community.

Mrs. Amelia Stovall

round the town

I know you are as disappointed as I am that the Democratic Convention failed to come to grips with that most obvious of questions throughout this week's deliberations.

After all, what ARE we going to do with Jerry Brown?

I can't really blame Jimmy Carter for not wanting our Jerry on the ticket. After all, Jerry and Jim were never what you'd call "close." But surely, in all of that grand oratory, those big promises, there was one small niche for Brown. It would have been one giant break for Californians.

I mean, who really wants a left - over governor? And once Jerr's seen D.C., how are we going to keep him down on the Sacto farm?

Assemblyman Farout from Orange County seemed to express the prevailing mood of the legislative minority when he confided to this reporter: "I was really counting on Old Jerr staying in Washington. REALLY counting on it!"

Another well - known supporter of the governor who could not hide his disappointment at Brown's impending return to the state house was Lt. Governor Mervyn Dymally.

"We were all looking forward to Governor Brown's joining the Carter team in Washington," said Dymally, who would of course have moved upstairs to Jerr's flat if things had worked out according to plan. "I simply have to lower my expectations, again," Dymally said, sadly.

Another prominent figure who was saddened at Brown's failure to become the nation's president, or at least the vice president, was Senator James Mills, president pro tem of the Senate and No. 3 in constitutional succession to the governor's throne.

"Mrs. Mills and I were sitting around last night, just playing 'What if?', and it was kind of fun to imagine what would have happened if Governor Brown had remained in Washington, and then Lt. Governor Dymally had suddenly been stricken with a fatal heart attack."

Wouldn't that have meant Senator Mills would then take over this state's leadership?

"Yes, that is precisely the thought that came to our minds. But," he added, wistfully, "it was just a fleeting dream."

I understand that Assembly Speaker Leo McCarthy, who is right behind Senator Mills in the gubernatorial ascension, had a similar dream; only in the McCarthy version both Dymally AND Mills were suddenly sent to their rewards, after which of course McCarthy went to his. In Sacramento.

"You win some, you lose some," McCarthy is reported to have told an insider after word came that Jerry Brown wasn't going to make it on the national scene.

It doesn't stop there. The impact on others when just one man's aspirations fail to materialize is staggering. Take Mabel McMurphy, for instance.

Mabel has been Governor Brown's twice - a - week housecleaner ever since Jerr took over that third - floor walkup in downtown Sacramento.

"It's been up and down those three flights of stairs for almost two years now," Mabel confessed in a moment of pique. "I was sure this young man was headed for better things, and that's the only reason I stuck with him, twice every week, up and down those stairs. My arthritis has been killing me," she exclaimed.

Turns out that Governor Brown had promised Mabel better things, when once he was ensconced in the nation's capital.

"He was so sure he'd make it," Mabel recalled "And I was too, or else I'd never have stuck with the job this long. Who needs a cleaning job three floors up, with my arthritis?"

It set me to thinking. No man is an island. I am my brother's keeper. That sort of thing. I was wondering how things would be today in the Ford household, had Gerald never been tapped to be vice president, way back when ... Or the shape of Major League Baseball today if Charles Finley had stuck to peddling Insurance ...

Just then the phone rang. "It's the Oakland Raiders office calling for you," I am advised. "What on earth would the Oakland Raiders want with me?", I replied, sweating just a little. Blando bowing out? Davis needs a new toe? Or maybe they've decided to go with an over - forty quarterback...

"Hello!" I said, quite muscularly.

"This is the Oakland Raiders ticket office," the sweet young voice said. "We are pleased to advise you that your name has finally come up in the requests for Oakland Raiders season tickets. You may stop by anytime and look over the available seat selection."

Season's tickets! Oakland Raiders!!

"It must have been ten years ago when you made that application for tickets," the lady of the house reminded me. "How come they're calling you after all this time?"

"Because my name finally came to the top," I announced proudly. "Some old fan, somewhere, has gone to his reward. And I was next in line. It was fate, that's all," I announced.

And so it happens to all men. Given enough time. I can't wait to share my good news with Jerry Brown, and with Mabel McMurphy.

MIKE ZAMPA

You're out!

MORGAN HILL — Political controversy threatened disruption of Coast Valley Little League playoffs here yesterday when town council members said they wouldn't allow the Gilroy Sand and Gravel Grizzlies to take the field at publicly owned Community Park.

Eleventh-hour negotiations carried well into the morning in hopes of salvaging tonight's opening game between the Grizzlies and the Industrial Strength Draino Wombats.

It was the first time in recent memory thatithe little league series has been threatened with cancellation for political motives.

The controversy stems from a long-standing fued between the council and the Grizzlies' sponsor, Gilroy Sand and Gravel.

Directors of the firm have proposed for years that their depleted rock quarry be converted into a huge, multi-level used car lot on the outskirts of town.

Councilmen were incensed at the suggestion, mayor Pierre True Doe pointing out: "Think what the influx of used car salesmen could do to our cultural heritage. Not to mention the lot's effect on our underground water shed."

Council's action against the little league team was not directed at the playoffs themselves, but instead, at the Grizzlies' participation in the pre-game parade.

Local politicians say the Grizzlies can't march under the Gilroy Sand and Gravel banner, which depicts a map of Morgan Hill, bordered by a cement truck and a 1957 DeSoto with a "for sale" sign in the rear window.

One compromise forwarded late yesterday was to allow the Grizzlies a place in the playoffs, and the parade, if they change the logo on flag and uniforms to read "Acme Allouettes."

Little League commissioner Mount N. Landis bristled at the suggestion.

"The integrity of the sport is at stake here," he blurted in a press conference last night.

Landis urged the Grizzlies to participate under the Sand and Gravel masthead. If the team is barred from the field, Landis said he would lead a little league protest into the council chambers.

"There's no need to bring politics into this," said Mayor Doe. "I'm surprised the head of a youth program can compel its members which way to act. We're not discriminating against any athletes," the Mayor insisted. "We're simply not allowing a team to represent building materials when it is actually a functionary of used cars. That is all we are saying."

The Grizzlies themselves offered to withdraw from the playoffs, saying they'd rather go to the movies that night, anyway. Gilroy Sand and Gravel has not won a little league game in seven years.

A battery of other playoff bound teams, however, Pizza Hut, Pizza Productions, Pizza Pete's, Giovanni's, Giuseppe's, and Mordecai's, all demonstrated for the Grizzlie team's admittance. Those clubs hold a combined 136-0 record against Gilroy Sand and Gravel.

"The whole situation is absurd," snorted the Grizzlie's nine-year old designated pinch-running specialist, Monte "Little Bird" Fusco.

"They've made little league a political football, and I hate football — all that talk about anabolic steroids and ratent homosexuality, you know."

Fusco says he and several teammates have threatened to jump the club and instead, loiter around city streets at night, shooting dice, pilfering hubcaps and doing other things kids do when there are no organized programs for youth.

Lighter Times

There is absolutely no substance to the rumor that the final endorsement for Jimmy Carter's running mate had to come from 8-year old Amy Carter.

Nor is there one whit of truth in the murmurs that veep finalists were checked through Amy's lemonade stand to or from their audience with dad.

Amy is definitely a power to be reckoned with, especially if dad makes it to the White House.

She should bring a refreshing angle to the campaign ahead.

Personally, I've had it up to here with Jack and Susan Ford. Liberty - the - Golden - Retriever has worn out her Page 1 welcome.

Mr. Reagan really doesn't have any family members going for him, aside from Nancy. A very pretty and poised lady but not one hint of controversy. Ron's stuck with his motion picture and "Death Valley Days" image to trade upon.

Images are THE thing in political campaigns now.

Show me a candidate without foibles, a skeleton or two in the closet and I'll show you a loser.

So it'll behoove Jimmy Carter to keep Amy front and center lest he wind up on Page 2 or between the 6 o'clock weather and sports.

It might be time for Ford to stumble down another stairway or somebody start a whisper campaign about Jack or Susan.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

West's three-heart bid was correct because he trusted both his partner and his opponents. He trusted that his partner wouldn't suddenly decide to go on and bid four hearts. This wasn't too much trust. If East had any interest in playing four hearts, he would have bid three hearts over North's two spades.

As for trust in his opponents, West knew that they had stopped at two spades and neither one was going to decide to go to game after that first decision.

What other chance did West take? He might get doubled but who was going to double? He, West, had good trumps and his partner had bid the suit first.

What could West gain? He could get his opponents to three spades and maybe beat that contract one trick.

South really should have passed and watched three hearts get set, but he did bid three spades. He also might have made three spades, but he managed to lose one spade, two hearts, a club and a diamond so West's three-heart bid really paid off.

Ask the Jacobys

A Tennessee reader wants to know if anyone has a book or pamphlet with rules for party bridge.

We regret to say that while there may be such a book in existence we do not know of it.

Sunol dome plan stalled

Alameda County Bureau

HAYWARD — William S. Rhoads' plans to build a geodesic dome on some three acres in Sunol will have to wait another month, county zoning administrator Dick Flynn ruled yesterday.

Rhoads' request to build the dome on 10,000 usable square feet of seven lots stacked in the hills near Kilkare Road will be delayed while Flynn checks with county health officials on the feasibility of a septic tank and leach fields.

Border patrol sets open house at Parks

DUBLIN — The Livermore Sector headquarters of the U.S. Border Patrol will hold a "Bicentennial Open House" at their facilities located in Camp Parks tomorrow between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

The public is invited to view displays and slides that will explain the function and operations of the border patrol, as well as equipment used by the patrol. Agents will be on hand to answer questions.

Border patrol headquarters is located at Eighth and Dow streets on the Camp Parks military reservation. Entrance is off Dougherty Road.

CREMATION
How to Reduce Today's High Cost of Dying

The Neptune Society is the alternative to the more costly involved mortuary - funeral - cemetery system. After 100 years, it is the answer to America's high cost of dying. The Neptune Society provides a simple, dignified cremation service with dissemination at sea. There is no need for embalming, cosmotology, casket or grave. The Spiritual aspect of death is emphasized. Your Social Security or Veteran's Adminustration death benefit may cover our complete service. Our literature tells the story of our society. One call or coupon returned to the Neptune Society is all that is necessary.

New med skill saves Yuba man

MARTINEZ — The last-resort medical technique used to save the life of bus driver Evan Prothero has been tried only a few times, according to available medical literature.

Prothero was the driver of the charter bus carrying the Yuba City High School choir which plummeted off the Martinez exit ramp of the Benicia bridge May 21, killing 29 persons.

An investigation showed that a faulty air brake system may have been the cause of the crash.

The medical team at the Veterans Administration Hospital here used Prothero's own clotted blood to stop massive pelvic bleeding from severe multiple injuries he sustained in the crash.

Prothero required 24 pints of blood in 14 hours, until Dr. Daniel C. Merrill, chief of urology at the hospital, decided to try the blood-clotting procedure.

Dr. Albert Weinshelbaum, chief radiologist, inserted a tube into Prothero's femoral artery and passed the tube above the site of the bleeding. Weinshelbaum used fluroscopy viewing internal structures by projecting an image onto a flourescent screen through use of X-ray — to pinpoint the bleeding.

He then injected the patient's clotted blood, combined with the drug Amicar, into the bleeding area.

The bleeding stopped almost at once.

The technique risks an overflow of clotted blood into arteries, which could cause gangrene in an affected limb.

The entire operation took an hour and a half.

Attending doctors agree Prothero, then losing two milliliters of blood a minute, could not have survived without the drastic procedure.

Explosives are stolen

OROVILLE (AP) — About 1,500 pounds of explosives were stolen from a state maintenance storage building near this Northern California town, state officials reported Thursday.

Dave Fitzwater, a spokesman for the Department of Transportation, said the theft was discovered at a state shed late Wednesday by work crews in Pulga area of the Feather River canyon.

Also stolen was 1,000 feet of electrical cord and 23 blasting caps.

Californians buy more

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Californians bought more gasoline in May than in any previous May, and came close to setting a record for any month in history, the state Board of Equalization said Thursday.

The 920 million gallons sold in May was second only to the 935 million sold in August, 1973, before the Arab oil embargo, the board said.

Four killed in I-5 crash

ROSEBURG, Ore. (A) — A predawn collision on Interstate 5 north of Roseburg killed four persons Thursday morning.

State police identified the victims as Kathy Diane Drabik, 22, Vancouver, Wash., and Lee Allen Nard, 25, and Jerry R. McCoughey, 28, addresses unknown.

church news

Churches host guest speakers

Divine Science

PLEASANTON— Shirley Richetti, a licensed Unity Teacher from the Lakeside Temple of Practical Christianity in Oakland, will be the guest speaker for Divine Science Ministry this Sunday, at the 11 a.m. service at Franklin Savings & Loan Community Room, 561 Main St.

Her properity lesson, entitled "The Starting Point," will be based on the Fourth Psalm.

Miss Richetti formerly worked with the Menninger Foundation and in the Silent Unity Prayer and Letter writing departments. At present she is secretary and teacher at Lakeside Temple in Oakland.

First Baptist, Pleasanton

PLEASANTON— The Douglas Family from Livermore will be singing at First Baptist Church, Pleasanton at 6 p.m. Saturday following a dinner at 4:30 sponsored by the Baptist Men.

Sunday morning at 11 a.m. Dr. Clayton C. Harrop, professor of New Testament at Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary will be preaching a message from the Sermon on the Mount. He will return to the Church on Monday for a five night study of this portion of God's word. (Matthew 5-7) These teaching sessions are from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Preston Bennett and his family will be our guest speaker on Sunday evening at the 7 p.m. service. He is a missionary stationed in Yokohama, Japan. In addition to general evangelism in Yokohama, he is also Division Leader for missionaries throughout Japan.

The public is cordially invited to attend all these service at the church, located at 4100 First St., Pleasanton.

Livermore Presbyterian

LIVERMORE— Sally Bystroff, seminarian, will preach the sermon at the 10:30 worship service at Livermore Presbyterian Church, this Sunday. She has entitled her sermon "Hey! Superstar!"

Mark Bystroff, Mike Judd, Dennis Gleason and Lori Glaze will present Anthem and Offertory musical selections. The children's sermon titled "Quail and Manna" will be given by Dennis Gleason. Elder Carl McDonald will be the Lay Leader for the service.

Children will worship with their parents for the first fifteen minutes of the service and then will leave for the Celebration Hour. There is nursery care available for pre-schoolers.

Parkway Baptist

DUBLIN— Amos A. Omoresemi, a pastor from Nigeria, will preach at both services at Parkway Baptist Church, 7485 Villwge Parkway, this Sunday.

Pastor Omoresemi holds degrees from California Baptist College, the Nigerian Theological Seminary and at Golden Gate Seminary, was awarded a Master of Divinity degree this past June.

Prior to coming to the United States, he pastored three churches in Nigeria.

Regular morning services at Parkway begin at 11 a.m. Bible study classes for all age groups start at 9:30 a.m., with nursery care for all pre-school children. The Christian Life Training period is at 6 p.m., evening worship at 7 p.m.

There is a special Bible training and prayer service each Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. Pre-school through high school age christian training programs are underway at the same time in adjacent Evans Hall.

For more information on the many activities at Parkway, call the church office at 828-0359.

St. Raymond

DUBLIN— The Rev William Ryan, Jesuit priest, former missionary, and now a San Francisco High School teacher, will be the guest of St. Raymond's Church this Sunday. He will preach the sermon at all the Masses scheduled for 5 p.m. on Saturday, and at 7:30, 9:00, 10:30 a.m. and 12 noon on Sunday.

This is a return visit for Father Ryan, who parishioners remember from last year as a compelling speaker. His experiences about his capture by the communists during World War II and his subsequent imprisonment color most of his inspiring messages.

St Vincent de Paul Society will be collecting canned goods and food stuffs this Sunday after all the Masses. Because of strikes affecting many local residents, the Society's cupboards are bare.

'Living Water Trio'

Members of the evangelical singing group known as "Living Water" include Steven Scott, who acts as their spokesman, Sandy Jilbert, pianist, and the trio of singers: Debby Williams, Susan Jenkins and Gail Strong. They will be appearing Sunday evening at the Church of the Nazarene at 7 p.m.

John Knox seeks area blood donors

DUBLIN— The congregation of John Knox Presbyterian Church is sponsoring a Community Blood Donor club with the Alameda - Contra Costa County Medical Association, and will be taking sign-ups this Sunday of any and all volunteers who will agree to give blood on Saturday, August 7.

The purpose of the drive is to help provide much meeded blood resources during the latter part of the summer and on through the Labor Day weekend when blood supplies are low but in great demand. The John Knox Church Blood Donor Club is not restricted to church members and friends, but will supply blood for the whole community as needed and available. A film concerning the Blood Bank and how it works to help others will also be shown this Sunday at John Knox, 7421 Amarillo Rd., following the worship service.

Holy Cross

LIVERMORE— The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at the 9 a.m. Sunday family worship service at Holy Cross Lutheran Church.

Serving as celebrant will be the pastoral intern, Alan J. Rider. The communion meditation will be "A New Way of Giving," the second in a three-week series on "The New Man in Christ."

Valley United

DUBLIN— Church services at Valley United Methodist Church, located at Camp Parks in Dublin, will begin at 8:45 a.m. A coffee fellowship follows at 9:45 a.m.

Pastor Eva Dickover's sermon topic will be "A Faithful People." A special event will be held for children to age 12 during church services. Nursery care will also be provided.

M.Y.F. plans to meet at the church at 7:30 Sunday evening.

Berean Baptist

LIVERMORE— "Moral Motives in Motivation" (Heb. 13:2-22) will be the theme of Pastor Bill Ferry's message this Sunday at the Berean Baptist Church, 2200 Bess Ave. during the morning service at 11 a.m.

Sunday school classes for all ages begin at 9:45 a.m. The adult class is studying the Book of Daniel. Nursery care is provided for all services at Berean.

During the Sunday evening service at 6, Pastor Ferry will discuss "The Poor, the Rich, the Faithful and the Neighborly" (James 2:5-9). Wednesday's prayer meeting and bible study starts at 7:30 p.m.

St. Clare

PLEASANTON— Holy Communion is celebrated at 8 a.m. every Sunday at St. Clare's Episcopal Church, 339 Rose Ave. A service of Morning Prayer will be led this Sunday by Dick Rounds at the 10 a.m. family service. The Rev. William A. Smith will give the sermon.

Nursery care will be provided, and everyone is welcome for coffee following the service.

'Living Water' at Nazarene

LIVERMORE— The public is cordially invited to hear "Living Water," a ladies trio from Point Loma College in San Diego, being presented locally by the Church of the Nazarene, 418 Junction Ave., July 18 at 7 p.m.

"Living Water" is one of several music groups sponsored by the Southern California college. The groups range in size from trios to the 160 member Choral Union. PLC is one of eight fully accredited liberal arts colleges in the United States sponsored by the Church of the Nazarene.

Susan Jenkins, second soprano for the trio, is the daughter of the Rev. Donald L. Jenkins, pastor of the Nazarene Church. A graduate of Livermore High School, she is now a senior majoring in child development at Point Loma College. She plans to teach on the elementary level.

Also in the group are Debby Williams, soprano and music major from San Diego; Gail Strong, alto and a junior from Ducor, Calif; Sandy Jilbert from Torrance, who accompanies the group as pianist; and Steve Scott from Santa Ana who acts as the group's spokesman.

Trinity Lutheran

PLEASANTON— Holy Communion is served at both the 8 and 9:30 a.m. services every Sunday at the Trinity Lutheran Church on Hopyard and Del Valle Streets. Children return to church at the end of their studies at Sunday School which begins at 9:30 a.m.
